

MIROSLAV PANSKY

Miroslav Pansky, who died in October 2007, was artistic director and conductor of the Green Bay Symphony Orchestra for 23 years. And as creator and director of the Pamiro Opera Company during that time, he also introduced area audiences to “live” opera through full-scale, professional productions. Established in 1985, the company staged some 30 operas over a period of 20 years.

Maestro Pansky took special delight in working with the youth orchestras he organized and directed for many years as part of the Symphony program. He savored the joy of watching young talent develop, of inspiring those with special gifts to take on ever greater challenges as performers.

To honor Maestro Pansky’s contributions to the artistic life of the region and to carry forward his dedication to excellence, the Civic Symphony of Green Bay offers the Miroslav Pansky Memorial Competition as a biennial event open to young musicians of Northeast Wisconsin.
