CIVIC SYMPHONY OF GREEN BAY RETURNS TO THE STAGE FOR 2021-2022 SEASON

GREEN BAY, Wis. – The Civic Symphony of Green Bay (CSGB) will be returning to the stage this fall for the 2021-2022 season. The CSGB has a full program planned with four concerts: “Fall For All” on October 2, 2021, “Classics For The Community” on November 14, 2021, “Winter Wizards” on February 9, 2021, and “Spring is in the Aire” on April 10, 2021.

All concerts, with the exception of the November concert, will be held at St. Norbert College in Walter Theater. The November concert will be held at the Green Bay Community Church. The CSGB will also provide a virtual streaming option for the concerts this season which will be easily accessible from the CSGB’s social media pages.

The CSGB’s season program includes Dvorak’s Symphony No. 9 “From The New World,” Prokofiev’s “Peter and the Wolf,” Copland’s “Fanfare For The Common Man,” and Vivaldi’s “The Four Seasons” which features violinist Samantha George, a violin professor at Lawrence University.

The CSGB’s concert season will be sponsored in part by The New Dermatology Group and Schneider National. For more information about the CSGB’s upcoming season and program for 2021-2022, please visit <https://gbcivic.org/events/>.
