CIVIC SYMPHONY CONTINUES VIRTUAL VIDEO SERIES WITH SPRING 2021 SEASON

GREEN BAY, Wis. - The Civic Symphony of Green Bay (CSGB) is opening the Spring 2021 season with a virtual video series consisting of three “movements” featuring the symphony’s local musicians. The first movement, Movement I: Member Spotlights, was released throughout the month of March. All videos are free for the public to enjoy and people can be notified when each video is released by subscribing to the CSGB’s emails or following the CSGB Facebook page.

Movement I: Member Spotlights, which has already been released, focuses on showcasing the talents of our symphony members by learning a little about who they are, what instrument they play, and how they have positively impacted our community through their employment. The symphony has a wide range of professionals from postal workers and medical personnel to educators and engineers. This first set of videos are available to view on demand on our Facebook and Youtube social media pages.

Movement II: Basic Skills will further push our educational initiative we started during the Fall. Viewers will learn about the various instruments that are included in an orchestra such as woodwinds, brass, and strings. We will provide basic education on; assembly, disassembly, cleaning, care, posture, hand positions, warm-ups, and practice tips. We hope even you will want to pick up an instrument after these videos! This video series plans to be released in early April of 2021.

Movement III: Soloists & Ensembles will bring the Symphony into your home with our new virtual performances. We will present talented members of our symphony in small ensemble groups focusing on string and horn ensembles. Our third installment in this series will also include the musing of a vocal solo as well as a grand organist. The final video series is set to be released in early May.

The CSGB is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization made up of volunteer musicians who come from many backgrounds. They are doctors, engineers, teachers, professional musicians, and more. The virtual video series is sponsored by the John & Janet Van Den Wymelenberg Foundation, the Schneider National Foundation, and the NEW Dermatology Group.
